

Airhead!

The diary of an incompetent air-con apprentice...

...(continued)

So there I was, relieved to be at The Watering Hole after escaping a swingers' party where I'd discovered mum & dad swapping partners...! Still in shock, I knocked back a couple of double-vodkas and was a bit squiffy when I overheard a bloke saying he'd been 'swinging too hard' recently. I interrupted him:

"Excuse me - shouldn't you be more discreet about that sort of thing?"

"Why? How will I get better if I do that?"

"If you want to get better, get help."

"Actually I was thinking of having a couple of sessions with a pro."

"What? Pay for it?!"

"Why not? Lots of my friends have done it."

"How can you be so detached? It's about feeling, y'know."

"No, I'd say it's more to do with technique."

"That's just wrong! And I had no idea so many people here were at it!"

"Well of course - there's a whole tourism industry for it."

"Really? I thought that was Thailand - ?"

"Well yes, it's popular there too... We were there last year, actually, but didn't get the chance to play a round!"

"Because your wife was against it?"

"Hardly - she'd play a round every day if she could! But we usually manage a foursome with a couple of friends, 2-3 times a week"

"You people are sick! Mindless bloody expats with nothing else to do but screw each others' wives! You're supposed to be setting an example to my generation! But even as we speak my own parents are... are... shagging complete strangers!!!"

The bar went quiet. In the corner the guys from Penguin were looking across, trying not to laugh. Then the penny dropped.

"Er, hang on... Are you talking about golf?"

"Of course - what did you think?"

Then I pretended to get a call on my mobile and left.
