

Airhead!

The diary of an incompetent air-con apprentice...

Dreadful weekend - glad to be back to work. Or so I thought... I was on the AI-Cool computer, up-dating last week's calendar, when I discovered Max keeps a personal version - a hidden 'layer' behind the official one, which he'd left open by mistake. Compare & contrast the following, as they say -

MONDAY

Office: Meeting all morning with accountant - phone off. 3pm: solar system survey / quote, Albufeira. Client: Mr. Benson

Max: Morning golf with the boys. Lunch at the clubhouse. Liquid lunch, turned into a right messy session, rat-arsed by 3pm, went home to sleep it off. Do Benson survey tomorrow instead (forgot to call him).

TUESDAY

Office: Aircon repair job, Vilamoura, Mrs. Dempsey. Please note: existing client - we installed this system last summer.

Follow Airhead's diary in the Resident every week. . .

Max: Phoned Benson to re-schedule survey but the superior bugger wasn't happy I didn't show up yesterday. Offered him €100 discount to calm him down, but he said he'd already contacted Penguin about doing the job. Bastard.

Late for Dempsey a/c repair job. System under warranty but bugger-all profit just ordering a new part, so did a makeshift repair and charged her €175. She'll never know.

WEDNESDAY

Office: Meeting with supplier in Lisbon - phone off. Aaron to keep shop / office open.

Max: Played golf. Left Airhead* to keep the shop open - see if the little twit can manage without making a cock-up for a change. Bloody kid does my head in.

(OMG! Is that what he calls me?)*

THURSDAY

Office: Install solar system, Albufeira, day 1. Client: Benson. Property empty, neighbour has key.

Max: Surprised we got this job - thought he'd gone with Penguin...? Bit of a rush but organised by Airhead yesterday... On-site the sulking brat was a liability as usual - he dropped a solar panel and cracked it. Lucky client wasn't there, should get away with it...

FRIDAY

Office: Complete install solar system, day 2.

Max: Complete bloody disaster more like - installed system at wrong house! Should've been for someone called Bentham, not Benson - all Airhead's fault, the brat's supposed to manage the calendar system - I'll bloody lynch him!

Don't get an airhead, get an expert!
